City Council Has Taken No Action in Respect of New Charter.

The securing of a new charter for the city of Phoenix is a question that has been frequently recurring for years and yesterday morning a contemporary erroneously announced that the mayor had appointed a committee of thirty citizens to frame such a document. The facts are that neither the council nor the mayor has taken any action in respect of the matter and from the present appearance of things will not do so for the present. Mayor Christy when asked concerning the matter yesterday said the story published must have been founded on some chance remark dropped by some one who was present at a committee meeting of the council when the matter was suggested.

It was brought up and discussed for a few minutes but a reference to the proposed constitution of the new state seemed to prohibit any action by the council at this time. City attorney Prescott is away on a vacation and the matter was dropped pending his return for an opinion as to whether the council could do anything, before a further discussion of whether it would be advisable to do anything.

RAB ASSAULTED WHILE HE SLEPT

Proprietor of Bisbee Garage was Beaten Into Unconsciousness by Unknown Assailant.

J. C. Rab of the firm of Ferguson and Rab, proprietors of the Buick garage on Main street, was assaulted yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and rendered unconscious. Harry McCoy, a miner at the Spray shaft, is believed by Mr. Rab to have been his assailant, and a warrant was issued by Judge Morris High for his arrest. The warrant was served by Officer Parley McRea.

Mr. Rab was unable to state positively who his assailant was, but he had had a slight disagreement with McCoy a short time before, and McCoy was seen by employees of the garage to leave the shop a short while before Rab was found on the floor of the garage, covered with blood.

Mr. Rab stated that he had sold a motorcycle to McCoy last week and that the latter had wanted to back out of the trade and that he offered to refund half of the first payment and take back the machine. After having made out the check he dropped off to sleep with his elbow on the desk, and that was the last he knew until he came to himself, lying on the floor of the garage, bleeding from three wounds, a cut on the head and an abrasion on each cheek.

Employees of the garage say that when they saw McCoy leave the shop he was pale and trembling and muttered to himself.

A few minutes later McCoy met Judge Morris High on the street, near the Bank of Bisbee corner, as the judge was going to the postoffice. "I want to pay my fine," McCoy said. When asked what fine he wished to pay, McCoy said that he had just had some trouble up the street and wanted to pay his fine. Judge High told him that he could not pay a fine until a complaint was made against him and that none had been issued against him in his court. "Then may I go on shift?" McCoy asked. The judge told him he could go on shift or anywhere else so far as he was concerned.

A few minutes after reaching his office, returning from the postoffice, the telephone bell rang. It was Rab. He said that he had been assaulted and asked that an officer be sent to the garage. Rab was taken to the Copper Queen hospital, where his wounds were dressed, and later he appeared in Judge High's court and swore to a complaint charging McCoy with felonious assault.

McCoy was arrested by Officer McRea at the Spray shaft and placed in jail pending his preliminary hearing.

GOOD ADVICE FOR SPECULATORS

"A broker once told me that there was one rule which he would give, if he dared," to his customers to guide them in selecting stocks for trading purposes. "Take a piece of chewing gum; reduce it to an adhesive condition, mold it into a form convenient for throwing; throw it at the board. Buy or sell the stock indicated by the spot on the board to which it adheres. Go to Europe for three months." By following this advice, he said, the customer would have a chance—not much of a chance, it is true, but some chance. If, however, he reads the financial page of the newspaper, and listens to the gossip in the brokers' office, he has not even the gambler's chance, since he will be doing exactly what the powers back of the market want him to do in order that they may as quickly as possible get his principal before it is exhausted by the constant nibbling of the broker.

"A well-to-do man showed his ingenious wife a check for $1800. 'Do you see this check?' Now with this I'm going to buy sugar. Sugar is going up, and I'll give you the profits."

Sugar went down, and he lost his $1800. The lady asked for an accounting. 'My dear, sugar went down. The money is lost.' 'And you haven't even any sugar?' she asked plaintively. 'Not even any sugar.'

"It will be well for the American people if the present dullness in brokerage circles, in so far as this dullness represents increasing knowledge of the pitfalls of margin speculation, shall continue. As a means of making money, it is worthless; as a means to loss and ruin, it has no rivals. With the large number of sound investments constantly offered by banking houses to the public on terms which offer a reasonable chance of increasing value, together with security of principal and income, it should not longer be necessary for men and women to put their savings into margins."—Edward Sherwood Meade in Lippincott's.

Evidently, the Federation of Shop Employees of the Illinois Central are waiting for the rails to get hot before they strike.

THEY POINT WITH PRIDE

DEMOCRATS AT THE BAT

Big Fry and Little Fry Make Speeches in All of Which the "Oppressor" in the White House is Criticized.

There was considerable "pointing with pride" and some "viewing with alarm" by the untutored democracy of Maricopa county when it met in conference at the court house yesterday. Likewise, there was much denunciation of that unthinking sort, which denounces merely for the sake of denouncing and because it is an easy thing to do. One might have to listen to the exhortation of the president of the United States, a pastime in which several speakers indulged, that Mr. Taft is a red-handed brigand who has occupied the capital by force, and whose principal business is "oppressing" the people of Arizona.

In justice to some of the speakers it can hardly be said that they really believed all the said. For instance, there were a couple of lawyers on the list who are both eminent in their profession, both students of economics, and both, personally, as far removed from the isms of the day as are probably any two men in Arizona. That these men really believe the president of the United States to be an oppressor, or that either of them has been soundly converted to the theories of government to which they but recently were unalterably opposed, would be an impeachment both of their ability and their intelligence. That some of the gentlemen of smaller caliber, who are looking out for county offices, should have made the kind of speeches to which they gave utterance, was of course to have been expected. These speeches contained the usual impositions, declarations for the "sacred cause of self government" and doubtless clearly demonstrated to the entire satisfaction of the speakers, at least, that the new state of Arizona will be a "goner" without their invaluable services either in the legislature or on the bench of the Superior court.

The early hours of the conference were devoted to the drafting of a series of resolutions. That's where the "pointing with pride" comes in. The conference "pointed with pride" to the record of the Democracy of Arizona in securing the ratification of the constitution and the attainment of statehood. All the principles of the constitution were endorsed. President Taft was condemned in several languages for insisting on the elimination of the judiciary recall, which is said to have been "a direct assault upon the principle of self government." It was also resolved that the legislative candidates should pledge themselves to adopt a recall measure as soon as possible.

Next, all democrats are called upon to stand "shoulder to shoulder" for the principles of the party and the election of democrats to office. Finally, the action of Ralph Cameron in Congress was denounced; and there the resolution ended.

The only really interesting part of the meeting was an address by Judge A. C. Baker, a member of the late constitutional convention. Baker's speech was the feature of the afternoon session, particularly that part of it in which he paid his respects to the afternoon insurgent paper. The paper recently declared that the vote on the recall measure in the constitutional convention, Baker and Franklin voted no and that Mr. Orme was absent. Judge Baker read from the official record of the convention's proceedings which showed that when the recall measure was put on final passage he and Franklin and Orme were all present and all voted in the affirmative.

George Purdy Bullard, candidate for attorney general, made a speech that aroused considerable enthusiasm. He said the democrats are sure to capture all the offices this fall.

Rev. Sam Small said insurgent doctrines are spreading to such an extent that they have taken root even in Ohio, the president's own state. He also said that Senator Burton, "President Taft's own choice for Senator from Ohio," and the democratic senator from that state had both come out squarely for the Arizona constitution. It was probably lack of information that led the insurgent to make these statements since every well informed man knows the administration candidate for senator from Ohio was not Burton but Mr. Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati; and that Atlee Pomerene, the democratic senator, voted against the admission of Arizona.

Probably the warmest reception of the afternoon was given to Carl Hayden, candidate for the nomination for the lower house of Congress. Hayden said it is his observation that no democrat need hope to be nominated for any office except those whose records are right on the constitution, speaking after which R. C. Stanford, the chairman, entertained a motion to adjourn, and it was all over.

HIGH SCHOOL OPENS MOST AUSPICIOUSLY

One Hundred Forty-three New Pupils Enrolled on Opening Day. More Coming.

The union high school started on the most auspicious year of its history. It had 142 new pupils to register, pupils who had never attended it before. The old ones were not registered, and will be attended to later. There are in all 275 pupils present. It is expected that the number will mount to 450 before the work of enrolling is finished. Last year the total enrollment was 282, and the greatest attendance 265.

Study cards were given out to the pupils present, and the faculty held a meeting to perfect study programs and classify the pupils enrolled.

Prof. Bullard, who is ill with typhoid fever in the Sisters' hospital, and Miss Robinson were the only teachers absent.

Finances and Markets

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Wall street suffered today one of its frequent attacks of nervousness, over the fluctuations in politics. The source of the disturbance on this occasion is Taft's speech at Detroit with regard to the enforcement of the anti-trust laws. As a result of this speech, a slump reaction in the market occurred. Later, prices moved up again, the losses gradually recovering and at the close some shares showed an advance over Saturday. The suspension of two financial institutions, one in Philadelphia and the other in Cincinnati, was not without its effect and furnished much bear ammunition. Steel and Harvester declined on trust talk by the president, the latter reaching 101 1/4, the lowest of the year. New Haven gained more than 3 points. Erie's was conspicuous in the trading list, preferred and common both making good gains in response to heavy buying. London's dealings amounted to 26,000 shares.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, $1,417,000. Governments unchanged on call.

METALS.

Copper unchanged. Arrivals eighty tons. Exports 13,535 tons so far this month. Other metals unchanged.

STILL TALKING OIL.

There appears to be no abatement to the oil land excitement of the Verde Valley, and yesterday added to the deep interest by the receipt of another batch of location notices by County Recorder Bradbury that aggregated in acreage eight sections of land divided among forty locators, says the Journal Miner. P. L. Griffin, of San Francisco, and his associates are among the locators, taking over another section, which gives them a large amount of land scattered at several places. Mr. Griffin was among the first to be attracted to the valley and his company has en route an oil drilling machine, which is due to arrive during the coming month. The Verde Valley Oil company's plant will reach that section, it is said, during the week and will be started at once.

EDUCATION FOR CHILDREN

It has frequently been remarked by business men that children should be educated not alone in the usual way which public schools afford but also should be given an education in the common affairs of business and banking. This is accomplished by many parents by opening Term Savings Accounts for their children and allowing them to call at the bank themselves from time to time to make deposits. We invite children's accounts of $1.00 or more and pay 4 per cent compound interest.
